

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method of receiving optical channels including providing an optical band filter configured to filter at least one
5 optical channel from a multiple channel optical signal and provide a band filtered optical signal. A periodic filter is configured to filter and/or shape one channel from the band filtered optical signal and provide the periodic 10 filtered, shaped signal to a receiver and other optical system. The invention also relates to corresponding systems and apparatuses.